MTU Board of Control approves autonomy for June, 1969

The fall meeting of the Michigan Technological University Board of Control ended with a firm recommendation for autonomy in 1969. The governing body of LSSC met here on October 11, 1968.

Only one further step remains to be taken before autonomy is granted. With the approval of the State Board of Education already in hand, it is now a matter of state legislation to be signed by the Governor.

A joint committee of the State Board and of the Board of Control has studied the question and forwarded its conclusions to the two bodies. Both concurred with the committee's recommendation of autonomy. The matter will now be forwarded to receive the attention of the legislature.

When LSSC became a four year degree granting institution in 1966, it was expected that it would take about five years to reach the goal of autonomy.

The major factor was independent accreditation. This hurdle was passed last spring. The North Central Association accredited the school as an operationally separate institution.

Another factor of major importance to both the N.C.A. and the Board of Control was the new library complex. Since approval of these plans has been granted by the state, there is little left to hold the college back from independent growth.

The Board also recommended that funds be set aside in the next fiscal year's budget for the creation and operation of a Board of Control for an independent Lake Superior State College.

The Board also explored the possibility of a cooperative educational venture between LSSC and the University of Michigan. This would be situated on the University of Michigan holdings on Sugar Island. These lands were originally part of the estate of formec Michigan Governor Chase Osborn. They will be used for biological research.

Named professor emeritus was Stephen Youngs who retired from the faculty last year. He joined Harry Crawford who is the only other emeritus professor at LSSC. The designation has only existed since 1966.

The Board also approved a feasibility study of placing a third floor on Brady Hall; completion of the Brady Hall Quiet Lounge by carpeting it; adoption of the LSSC Faculty Senate constitution; and formal acceptance of the old U.S. Coast Guard base on Portage Avenue.

Honor Key System

Elite Key Club to open Friday the 25th

This week-end will see the Key System operational. Under it, women students 21 years of age and over, and all senior women will have completely optional hours.

Junior and sophomore women will have optional hours on Friday and Saturday nights.

The drawing up and implementing of the Key System is a result of the study of various other procedures in Michigan public supported colleges as well as of several private schools by the Associated Women Students 1966 Committee on Rules Evaluation. The study was begun in January of last year, with a report going to the Office of Dean of Women in May. It was passed with only one dissenting vote by residence hall members. It was endorsed by the offices of Dean of Women and Dean of Students and on the presentation to the Chancellor's Council was accepted without modification. The women students complemented on the thorough job of investigation and organization which led to the adoption of the Key System for upperclassmen.

Many colleges use a night clerk system, among them, University of Michigan, Michigan State and Northern Michi-

Rita Bagnall will serve as AWS Key Chairman. Under the system, a girl who has Key Privileges may check out a Key between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. She will also sign the regular sign-out chart as a service in case anyone wishes to get in touch with her. On return to the residence hall, the key will be slipped into the locked Key box. In the case of a lost key, the student who signed out the key will be responsible for paying for a new set of keys and magnetic codec cartridge.

The key is a magnetic codec card which will activate the cartridge in the wall.

In order for a girl to have Key Privileges she must make an application to the Office o Dean of Women, must have a least sophomore standing, mus have on file the parental parti cipation permission, and be ir good academic standing (not or probation).

Dean Howe confers with dissident women

Margaret F. Howe, Dean of Women, met with residents of Osborn and Brady Hall to discuss women's hours. The meeting was in response to a small group of dissenters who recently began protesting the rules.

A key system will go into effect this weekend. It will allow qualified upperclassmen the privilege of extended hours. It will be in effect this year on a trial basis. Last year's evaluation of rules provided the impetus for this program.

Senior and students over 21 will have unlimited hours

Some of the women present re garded this as an example o a double standard. The doubl standard was defended by th Dean as "being in the Ameri can tradition."

For the time being curfew will continue in their presen form except for those change that will be created by instal lation of the honor key system Many coeds no not think tha there is any needs for a change The paraphernalia of presen curfew restrictions, permissior slips, postcards to parents and limited hours, are welcomed by some students who wish to
